Debaters Leave For Vermont Road Tour; Challenge Students

Seniors Francis Parente and Gerard Cadorette and Sophomores, Vincent Callahan, John O'Donnell and William McMahon of the Barristers, Varsity Debating team, leave today on a four-day road trip which will be climaxed by a two-day tournament at the University of Vermont, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 18 and 19. The Barristers will meet Middlebury College tonight and St. Michael's College tomorrow.

Yesterday, Cadorette, secretary of the Barristers, issued the following statement to the COWL: The Barristers challenge anybody in the student body who would care to debate on any topic within reason.

Thursday night the Barristers gained their second decision against no losses, by outpointing the Rhode Island State Wranglers. William McMahon and Francis Parente represented the Barristers. Richard B. McPeake and John Kitchen represented the Wranglers.

The topic debated was the national resolution for the year: Resolved, that the Federal Government should nationalize all basic non-agricultural industries. The judge for the debate was Dr. Metz of the Rhode Island State College history department.

Loring Photographs 401 Of 405 Seniors

The response of the Senior Class in having their pictures taken at the LORING STUDIO has been most gratifying both to the personnel at the Studio and to the members of the Staff of the VERITAS. In a week and a half we have been able to photograph 401 out of 405 Seniors. This should approach some sort of record. We thank you.

Now the problem is to return the proofs to Loring Studio at once. Select the pose you want in the Veritas, bring it to Loring's, show it to the girl there. That's all there is to it. But do it at once. If we can duplicate the feat of picture-taking with prompt proof returns the Staff of the VERITAS will be able to meet their engraving deadlines without any trouble. It's all up to the members of the Senior Class.

It is imperative that the Seniors look at the VERITAS Bulletin Board every day. Perhaps there will be nothing new on it at times, but, the day you miss it is liable to be the day that some important information is being posted.

Flying Friars Start Membership Drive

The Flying Friars held their first meeting of the year last night in Harkins Hall. The club has a membership of twenty-eight members at the present time. A membership drive is on which will last two weeks. At the end of these two weeks students who still want to join and have not done so can join as associate members, that is, their flying time can be taken only after the regular members are not flying.

The club has an Aeronca Chief as its trainer plane, the plane being moored at Hillsgrove, R. I.

The purpose of the Flying Friars as stated by the Rev. Walter A. Murtaugh, O.P., moderator, is threefold: (1) to teach its members to fly; (2) to teach the theory of flight and navigation; (3) to enable members to pass the C.A.A. examination for both pilot and navigation licenses.

The club belongs to the North Eastern Collegiate Association of Flying Clubs and hopes to participate shortly in competitive flying meets. The club also intends to join the Civil Air Patrol as a squadron with the Friars having their own executive officers under C.A.P. regulations. C.A.P. membership will not obligate members militarily at all, however, but will give the members the opportunity to

Discussions Planned By Placement Office To Prepare Seniors

A series of round table discussions will be conducted by Maurice J. Timlin, College Placement Director. The first of the series is scheduled for Tuesday, November 29 and Wednesday, November 30.

The purpose of these discussions, said Mr. Timlin, is to acquaint the Seniors with the functions of the Placement Office, and to prepare them for forthcoming interviews. Seniors who plan to attend are requested to fill out cards, which are available now in Room 207, and turn them in at the Placement Office.

Each series will have a different lecture outline, but will be divided into two sections—one meeting at one o'clock on Tuesday, the other at one o'clock on Wednesday. There will be a new series every week. By holding the sessions in two groups, Mr. Timlin said, he hopes to reduce the size of the groups to smaller proportions, thereby limiting the number of program conflicts.

The series will continue as long as there is a demand for them, Mr. Timlin added. The topics planned so far include "An Explanation of the Operation of the Placement Office," "Interview Etiquette," "How to Prepare Resumes," "Use of Letters," and "Sources of Job Opportunities."

Mr. Timlin also stated that many applications require an accompanying small picture of the applicant. He deemed it advisable for Seniors to have a supply on hand when they begin to make the rounds.

Woonsocket Club Holds Breakfast

The annual Communion breakfast of the Woonsocket Club of Providence College was held Sunday, November 13, at the Blackstone Hotel. About sixty attended the breakfast which was preceded by an eight o'clock Mass at St. Charles Church, celebrated by the Rev. James W. Hackett, O.P., club moderator.

The Rev. Ambrose P. Regan, O.P., of the faculty, gave the principal address, speaking on "The Dignity of Man." John Kirby, head of the Woonsocket Alumni, also spoke briefly.

Seniors Frolic Friday Eve At Farmer's Fall Festival "Sellout" Crowd Expected

"Sadie Hawkins" will be on the program when Seniors and their dates, dressed strictly informally, dance to the music of Jimmy O'Neil's Collegiate band at next Friday's Farmers Festival in the auditorium of Harkins Hall. The dance will be held from 8:30 P. M. to 12:00 P. M. The music will include a variety of tunes and will be both sweet and swingy. Tickets are two dollars per couple.

Profession Made By Four Students At Third Order Meeting

Before a congregation of approximately ninety persons, the Rev. John C. Rubba, O.P., director of the College chapter of the Third Order of St. Dominic, invested seven postulants with the scapular of the Order and heard four novices make their profession at a Tertiaries' meeting held Sunday at three o'clock. The meeting, which lasted two hours, took place in Aquinas Hall chapel.

The seven new novices, three of them women, have completed a period of probation of at least three months. They all belong to the adult section of the chapter.

The four professed Tertiaries, members of the students section, are: Patrick J. Casey, '51, Edward A. Dragon, '50, Daniel A. Paolino, '50, and Anthony E. Williams, '50.

In an informal conference held in Aquinas Hall lounge immediately after the ceremonies, the students section of the chapter chose permanent officers from among the above mentioned four, with the following results: Casey, prior; Dragon, novice master; Paolino, secretary; and Williams, treasurer.

The quietly impressive profession and reception was preceded by the Rosary, the first three decades being recited and the last two chanted; Compline, including the singing of the hymns, "Salve Regina" and "O Lumen Ecclesiae," with the Rev. William A. Hinnebusch, O.P., as hebdomadarian, and a sermon by the Rev. John J. Jurasko, O.P.

Opening with the words, "This is the will of God—your sanctifying grace," Father Jurasko told the postulants and novices, "You may be sure that something great is being done in heaven as you come before the altar to present yourselves to God."

Referring to the Dominican Saints who were honored on their feast, November 12, Father Jurasko said, "There was a time when they did the very same thing that you are about

Robert Morin, chairman of the dance, said in regard to the sale of tickets, "We expect the dance to be a sell-out". John Fagan, chairman of the decorations committee, while refusing to discuss details, said, "The decorations will be superb. The centerpiece will be terrific". Fagan also said that props would be available for humorous picture-taking.

The dress for the dance will be very inelaborate. For the girls, it will be sweaters and skirts. For the boys, dungarees and plaid or sport shirts will be more than appropriate. There'll be no "primping" for the Farmer's Festival.

The dance committee for the Farmer's Festival includes in addition to Chairman Morin: Paul Berard, Paul Joyce, Mark Geary, Hector Henery, Robert Maynard and William Ealahan.

Members of the advertising committee are: Ted Fachada, James O'Dea, Robert Flynn, Edward Strack and Edward Leonard. Thomas McDonald and John Lucas will handle the lighting effects. The decoration committee in-

J. Connolly Named P.C. OSP Chairman

The Student Congress last week named John Connolly, '50, as campus chairman of the Overseas Service Program of the National Federation of Catholic College Students. Connolly will correlate the work of six committees at the College in providing aid of all kinds for Catholic students abroad. The O.S.P. an outgrowth of the Student Relief Program of the past several years, acting under the National Catholic Welfare Council, aims to assist the less fortunate students in war-torn countries with the help of almost ninety per cent of the Catholic college enrollment in the United States which belongs to the Federation.

Students already named to the various committees are: D. P. and Travel—Edward Kennedy, Chairman, Guy Geoffroy and Robert Flaherty; Goods in Kind—Thomas Holleran, Chair-

Cowl Enters Twelfth Year With Today's Publication

Today is a singular day in the life of the COWL. When the COWL went to press this morning, a festive mood was noted over and above the clatter of the printing machines and the general hubbub of a busy newspaper office. Melodious voices of COWL staff members wafted gently in sweet song of fond tribute to a publication that today has become twelve years of age. Or, more appropriately, today the COWL is twelve volumes old.

The first issue of the first volume of the COWL was presented to the student body on November 16, 1935. That day Hendricken Field was being dedicated; the P.C. football team (Do

I perceive uplifted eyebrows?) was preparing to meet State for the Rhode Island championship. Those were the days when the resident students 'camped out'; when the Pyramid Players presented musical extravaganzas with such professional theatrical acumen that they never played to anything less than a packed house. Those were the days when college spirit was in high gear.

A group of serious minded students, realizing the need for an official organ of campus life that should foster college spirit and reflect the Christian atmosphere of Providence College,

TO THE COWL

It is with the conviction of a work well done that I congratulate the Editorial Board and Faculty Advisers of The Cowl for the past fourteen years of achievement. No endeavor for the advancement and welfare of our College can be accomplished without vision, cooperation and hard work. Those responsible for The Cowl have had vision and have given themselves generously to the task. The student body has been cooperative and keenly interested in this work. God grant that the future will bring even keener vision, more hearty cooperation and a greater sense of responsibility to the end The Cowl may continue to establish itself in the top ranks of weekly college papers.

COME OUT OF YOUR SHELL

With publication of the first issue of the COWL back in 1935, the president of the college included in his message of welcome to its founders the thought that since has been accepted as an integral part of the COWL creed. "With regard to the precise and most acceptable forms in which college spirit should manifest itself, the contributors to the COWL may and undoubtedly will, as the occasion arises, enlighten its readers. But so long as it promotes a sympathetic, benevolent spirit in the student body itself and strengthens their loyalty to the aims and purposes of Providence College, it will accomplish a noteworthy service."

Looking back through the pages of the COWL of many issues gone by, we come to the inevitable and unquestionable realization that with all due "loyalty to the aims and purposes of Providence College," our predecessors have attained the high ideal of scholastic journalism set for and by them. Their records speak for themselves.

We, accepting the responsibility of presenting to the student body the twelfth volume of the school publication, will strive for the same perfection that has been vividly manifested since 1935. Whether or not we attain that strived for objective is not for us to say.

We do, however, say this: We shall not attain perfection without the loyal cooperation of the student body, both as writers and readers, particularly the former. When the COWL was revived again in 1946 after the war years, it had a seemingly multitudinous staff of 47 men, as compared to the pitifully few, evident enough in the masthead above this column. Where, among our student body of nearly 2000, are the journalistic aspirants? Surely out of such a large group of men there must be more than a mere handful interested in using the COWL either as "a practice field for the young men who have journalistic aspirations" or who have the "sympathetic, benevolent spirit" to work for and champion the name of Providence College. Surely there must be many who have displayed writing talents on their high school publications. Why not come forth out of your shells and "lend a hand"?

If we are to maintain that precious heritage that has been handed down to us, if we are to accomplish the noteworthy service Fr. McCarthy deemed so vital in our school publication, then we need your help in aiding us to live up to our commitment.

SMOKING AGAIN

Smoking in the classrooms between periods is a habit which has grown from bad to worse. The number of dead cigarettes in the classrooms have increased.

The student lounge in Harkins Hall was created as a place of recreation for day hops. It was also supposed to solve the problem of smoking. Apparently it failed.

Since the student lounge was built to accommodate relaxers and smokers, it should be used. If students must have a smoke between classes, they should use the student lounge and not the corridors and classrooms. Disciplinary action may be taken by the Dean if such a practice is not stopped.

As I See It . . .

By Martin Hagopian, '50

Recently a Federal Court convicted eleven Communist leaders for conspiring to overthrow the United States Government by force. . . Within a few days the eleven were freed on $260,000 bail raised by the Civil Rights Congress (a subversive organization). Their release came after a question of the constitutionality of their conviction had been raised.

At the present time there is a bill pending before Congress which would outlaw the Communist Party and its members thereof. If this bill is passed all Communists would be criminals and subject to fine and imprisonment. This is certainly not the way to fight Communism. If the Communists were outlawed, they would move completely underground. The recent self-purge of the CIO is an example of how Communism can be dealt with in the open. With the aid of U. S. dollars the Communists were defeated in the open in Italy and France. Of course, the present Chinese situation is rather embarrassing to us; but there are other unmentionable factors involved whose merits I shall not dwell on at this time. It is my opinion that we can not defeat Communism simply by outlawing it. Communism is an international conspiracy; it is a condemned ideology; it is atheism; and by hiding behind a law we would be playing into their hands. The Communists are vainly endeavoring to become martyrs in the eyes of the people of the world. Recent events prove that we can fight Communism in the open. By the use of our common sense, continuous exposition, and our consolidated prayers we can and will defeat Communism.

As I see it, the Supreme Court will uphold the conviction of the eleven Communists; and therefore, Congress should utilize its valuable time to face other important issues.

- Cowl Mail Box -

Dear Editor:

I wish to put in my two cents worth regarding an issue that was promulgated by the Administration. And that is, the insistence that we play the part of gentlemen by wearing our Sunday best while attending classes.

Take my case, for example. I get $75 a month subsistence from the government. In these days that amount of money does not last too long, especially when the amount it costs for dry cleaning and pressing put such a dent in it. Yet, I consider myself fortunate compared to other students who derive no monetary benefit other than, perhaps, a Saturday afternoon job behind a vegetable counter.

In my opinion I do not think the Administration is justified in demanding we appear as clothes horses day in and day out. I should like to see this ruling relaxed, if only for the sake of letting our budgets come out in the black at the end of the month. Other schools let their students come to class attired in dungarees and sweaters, and I can't see where they

LET'S MAKE THIS KICK GOOD!

BEHIND SHOW BUSINESS WITH PERRY COMO

How We Met

My favorite tune at the moment (it's pure coincidence that I recorded it for Victor) is "Give Me Your Hand." The lyrics go, "Give me your hand. Let me be ever near." Here is a classy proposal of marriage set to music, which should help a lot of bashful swains.

PERRY COMO

"Give Me Your Hand" started me thinking about married couples in show business. I looked around and came up with a few sidelights on well known couples, how they met, and how their marriage influenced their careers.

Take Bea Wain and Andre Baruch, known to the butcher and baker as Mr. and Mrs. Baruch. They met on a Kate Smith show. Just said "hello" casually, as you do on a big program. What followed sounds like a gag to me, but Andre swears it's true. Seems he hadn't been feeling too well. As the show went on, he felt worse and worse. He hung on until the program was over, then picked a quiet corner and fainted. (So he says.) In the confusion, Bea was the only one who noticed the limp bundle of Baruch. She (to quote Andre) "rushed over with a pitcher of ice water which she poured all over my new tuxedo." Things like that take the formality out of a first meeting. Andre says he got even by marrying the girl.

Stanley and Helen Melba share one of the most unusual careers in show business. Their firm produces shows and supplies entertainment for a large hotel chain, for conventions, charitable events, society parties, and anything else which calls for top entertainment. You just call them up and say, "A few hundred intimate friends are dropping in next Saturday. Will you please put on a fashion show and send over a few jugglers, a magician and a name band?" They take it from there.

Stanley and Helen met at a party when Helen was 16, Stanley a few years older. They had a long engagement, and Helen was every bit of 19 when they married. At that time, Stanley was playing saxophone in Ozzie Nelson's band. He switched to a job on Wall Street, intending to be the standard model husband. But, Wall Street failed to reward him properly, and he had to take an orchestra job on the side. Finally, he organized his own band. He mixed up the books so thoroughly that Helen stepped in as bookkeeper. Now, she's a full-time partner, staging shows and helping with the management of seven orchestras.

Tex McCrary and Jinx Falkenburg met when Tex interviewed Jinx for the Daily Mirror in 1941. She was a starlet and an up-and-coming model. Tex wrote editorials and did a daily feature column for the Mirror. Their paths kept crossing during the next few years. This was remarkable, because both of them were traveling all over the world, Tex in the Air Force and Jinx with the USO. At last, Tex discovered that Jinx was about to leave the United States for Europe just as he was due back. He cabled a mutual friend in New York: "Locate Jinx. Tell her to stall. Guy who wants to marry her en route home." It worked and today—well, you know what a change marriage has made in those two careers.

While we're on the subject of early romances, I just can't resist mentioning "he-man" Mitch Ayres, our conductor on the Chesterfield Supper Club. You know, most people don't think of Mitch as a Romeo, at least not the kind of a guy who falls in love with a gal and can't eat. In 1936, Mitch met his wife, Georganna, in Hollywood while he was working on a movie at an outdoor location scene. He made cute conversation with her between the scenes, dated her a few times and then left the coast on a tour. Strangely enough, he found himself avoiding dates after that and suddenly realized that he was up to his neck in love. He married Georganna shortly afterward, that is, as soon as he could get back to the coast.

One of my favorite "how-we-met" stories comes from a versatile and distinguished show business couple, Kitty Carlisle and Moss Hart. Author-producer Hart and actress-singer Carlisle, when pressed for a story on how they met, came up with a beautifully simple one. "We can't remember," they said. "We've known each other for years."

are any less gentlemanly than we are. After all, although clothes do make the man look better, they do not necessarily make the gentleman.

Dear Editor:

To eliminate constant interruption of classes in session, may I suggest that small windows be cut in the doors of each classroom, so that it may be determined whether or not a room is occupied.

The N.F.C.C.S. Branch of the Student Congress needs manpower assistance and feels that the first year men would be desirous of assisting it. While clerical workers are needed most, all others who wish to aid this Student Congress subsidiary will find "they can help themselves, their college and their fellow man."

Reporter Sees Team Win; Dances in New Gymnasium

Also Sees New Gym Used For Many Other Useful School Activities

While dozing in class the other day, there appeared in my mind's eye, the spectacle of thousands of basketball fans roaring their approval as the men of Providence College outplayed and outscored their rivals from Holy Cross. The large crowd showed their approval as the Black and White sped across the spacious floor to score another and still another basket.

Exciting as the game was, the place in which the game was played was even more exciting. For this game of basketball, in my mind's eye, of course, was being played in the Providence College gymnasium, a new modern, completely-equipped, and vast gymnasium which was of immense profit not only to the College and its athletes but to the student body as well, in any number of ways.

Still in my mind's eye, I saw chattering couples dancing on the smooth floor of the gym while the orchestra at the far end gave out with the music for the Sophomore Hop or what have you. There was a large crowd present but there was room for more.

I saw the gym converted into a theater while the Pyramid Players sported over the stage in a three-act comedy. Rows on rows of seats were filled before the brightly-lighted stage. The actors had the benefit of modern theater equipment and were making the most of it. The audience applauded their efforts.

Still in my day dream, still dozing, I heard a well-known dignitary address the student body in this same gymnasium. The entire student body were there together with a few interested faculty. The speaker vanished and in his place came debaters who went to great lengths to argue the merits and demerits of Socialism. Their voices went to the far corners of the gymnasium so that all could hear perfectly. Their arguments were all the more vehement because of the encouragement which the large audience afforded.

Awakening from my reverie to the harsh realities of classroom recitation, I felt the dream slipping away to nothingness. Enough remained, however, for the purpose of this column. The purpose is to create some idea of what the new gymnasium will mean to the students of the College. My dream will become a reality only through the perseverance and hard work of each student in selling as many books of tickets for the Penny Sale as possible. The gymnasium will come out of the reverie stage only through the co-operation of all students at the College.

Friars Club Elects 12 New Members; Plan Campus Formal

Twelve members of the student body were elected to membership in the Friars Club, the campus hospitality group, last week bringing the club's roll, which is based on a class percentage basis, to its quota for the first semester. Four members of each of the three upper classes were appointed. Seniors chosen were William D. Ealahan, Hartford, Conn.; John F. Geary, Waterbury, Conn.; Spencer J. Scott, Hartford, Conn.; and Edward A. Strack, Pawtucket. Members of the third year class selected were Leroy F. Bartlett, Allenton; John F. Bresnahan, Jr., Pittsfield, Mass.; John D. Hickey, Waterbury, Conn.; and Walter T. Kennedy, Providence. New Sophomore members of the club are William C. Quinn, Brooklyn, N. Y.; John S. Schmitt, Norwalk, Conn.; Donald E. Sullivan, Fall River, Mass.; and Herbert J. Underhill, Lakewood.

The club also made plans to conduct its annual dance, the only on-campus formal during the entire year, on December 9 in Harkins Hall. Roger R. Jackson, '50, Waterbury, Conn., and Vincent P. Skenyon, '50, Providence, are co-chairmen. The various committees are: Orchestra: Joseph A. Bouchard, '51, Nashua, N. H.; John L. Connolly, '50, Hamden, Conn.; William J. Kerin '51, New Britain, Conn., and James A. Sheil '50, Waterbury, Conn.; tickets: Mark C. Geary '50, Waterbury, Conn., Stephen E. Marcucci '51, Woodbridge, Conn., and John J. Sullivan '51, Providence; publicity: Wales B. Henry '50, Hartford, Conn., Edward R. Leonard '51, North Providence, and Thomas V. Sullivan '52, Providence; Programs: Edward R. Coogan '50, Fall River, Mass., James M. Coughlin '50, Hartford, Conn., and Robert P. Flaherty '51, Worcester.

Maynard Talks On European Travels To Kent County Club

Robert E. Maynard, Senior Business student from West Warwick, told members of the Kent County Club who met Thursday night in the lounge of The Forge, in Warwick, that "there should be a greater exchange of students between Europe and America." Maynard, who attended the University of Fribourg, Switzerland, and traveled throughout Europe during the summer, explained that the American G. I. the American movies, and the tourists have not given Europeans a true picture of Americans, nor have most Americans gained a true picture of Europeans. He said that students would be able to accomplish this through the greater length of their stay and through the more purposeful contacts that they would make.

Speaking after a business session, Maynard described highlights of his experiences in Holland, Belgium, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, and Alsace, in France, where he visited friends he had met shortly after the war. He told of his audience with Pope Pius, recalling the pontiff as "a very humble man."

In discussing his shipboard experiences, Maynard told of the false claims made by a group of young American communist sympathizers who were on their way to represent the United States at the communist inspired Budapest Youth Festival. In the informal question period following his talk, he discussed the fluctuating value of the American dollar in the different countries. Italy, he said, appeared to be the most destitute of the countries he visited, in sharp contrast to its northern neighbor, Switzerland, where, as in Belgium, prices are most nearly like those in the U. S. A.

However, in his opinion, Maynard added, "No matter what anybody may have said, the Marshall Plan has obviously done a great deal of good."

During the business session, conducted by club president George E. Forcier, Jr., '50, Robert A. Flynn, '50 and Raymond Levesque, '50, co-chairmen of the social committee, were authorized to begin consideration of plans for a future social event, suggested as a dance by an unofficially estimated plurality of the club members present, to which Kent County Alumni of Providence College are to be invited. The purpose of the reunion, for which no specific date has yet been set, is to bring the club members into closer contact with the alumni, and to promote the establishment of an active alumni association in Kent County.

Flynn and Levesque are to submit a report for the club's approval at the next meeting, tentatively scheduled to be held November 25, in the Gaspee Plateau area. Herbert Underhill, '52, was entrusted with making arrangements for the meeting.

In a brief report, Guy Geffroy, '52, of Fiskeville, chairman of the publicity committee, disclosed that news of the club's activities is being carried by four Kent County newspapers.

One of the last matters to be considered was a motion made by Robert E. Maynard that annual dues be paid by all members. After considerable debate, in which supporters of the proposal argued for a permanent fund and opponents voiced themselves in favor of utilizing the club's present means of fund-raising and keeping the organization non-dues paying, the motion was defeated by a close margin. However, in view of the increased backing the plan appears to be gaining, it is believed that it will be presented again at the club's next meeting.

The meeting came to a close, as is customary, with the singing of the Alma Mater. New members who were welcomed into the club are: George H. MacDonald, '51, of Apponaug; Howard A. Douglas, '51, and Richard F. Ryan, '51, both of Greenwood; and Robert Hoyer, '53, and Clayton Knight, '53, both of Lakewood.

FRESHMAN TEAM TO RUN IN N.Y. IC4A MEET

♦ ♦ ♦ SPORTS PANORAMA ♦ ♦ ♦

By Dave Connors, Jr.

TRACK...

Walter Molineaux of Brown and Dick 'Pop' Johnson of P. C. will go right at it again in the Freshman IC4A Cross Country run next Monday at Van Cortland Park in New York. In case you missed the race between Molineaux and Johnson over the P. C. course last week, both runners lived up to pre-race predictions and gave the crowd on hand a thrilling duel.

Even though Molineaux had swept everything in sight aside this year in Frosh competition including the New England this corner predicted that Johnson would test him to the limit and this the former La Salle great did. At the finish line only a few feet separated the two, and it looks as though, as the surprised Ivan Fuqua, Brown coach, later said: "These boys are going to have a lot of fun racing against one another during the next four years."

Monday's race at New York should be very interesting not only because of a continuation of this Molineaux, Johnson rivalry but it will be interesting also to see how the two compare with the rest of the Freshmen crop around the country.

BASKETBALL...

With the pre-season practice drills turning into the home stretch, Vin Cuddy has a pretty good line on most of his basketball players and although he thinks that they need a lot of work before the season gets underway he is pretty satisfied with the way the team is shaping up. The Friars open their season in three weeks and the new coach hopes to bring the team into that first game pretty well grounded in his system.

From observing the team in some of the pre-season scrimmages it appears that the Friar five will play an interesting brand of ball and one the fans should like. Not that Cuddy is an advocate of wild, wide open basketball but on the other hand he has let it be known that he expects a player to throw it up at the hoop if he has a good opening for a shot. Although the Friar mentor is looking forward to one game at a time it is kind of hard to see how he can help but looking towards that big encounter with State just one month from yesterday. This is one of the earliest dates that this game has ever been played. It may be one of the most important.

FOOTBALL...

As the collegiate football season enters its final stages more and more teams fall from the ranks of the undefeated. Last week's biggest fall occurred up in Hanover, New Hampshire, when previously all conquering Cornell fell before an inspired and a good Dartmouth club. Boston University met its first top notch opposition of the year and went down to defeat. Pennsylvania did everything to Army but defeat the Cadets and as a result the West Point aggregation lost a lot of its lustre.

It appears now that the two best teams in the country are Notre Dame and Oklahoma. California and Army are close behind but it is doubtful from this corner whether either could take the measure of Oklahoma and there is not much question but what the Irish could handle both in the same afternoon. The word is out that the best football game every week is played on Wednesday afternoon when the first and second teams of Notre Dame, if they can be distinguished as such, get together for a scrimmage.

Defending Champs Almost Eliminated

By Dick Boulet

Only two games were played last week in the intramural football league. In one of the hardest fought games of the season, La Salle I edged the defending champs, the New Haven Club, 30-26. The other tilt saw the Senior Science team whip Guzman I, 37-6.

In winning, La Salle maintained its undefeated record, but was hard pressed all the way by New Haven. Standout in the La Salle lineup was Gleason, who scored two touchdowns, Blain, O'Dea, and O'Rourke each garnered a TD for the winners. McGurkin paced the New Haven Club with three 6 pointers.

In the other game, Senior Science raced out to a 19-0 half-time lead, and then coasted the rest of the way. Loneragan and McWey each scored twice for the winners.

McGurkin of New Haven has a comfortable lead in the scoring department thus far, having garnered 6 TD's and one PAT for 37 points. Next in line is Gleason from La Salle who has registered 4 touchdowns and 24 points.

Director of intramurals, Larry Drew has announced that four basketball leagues will be in operation this year. There will be circuits at 11:30, 12:30, and 1:30. The fourth will play its games before 3:30 on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday, with the time to be arranged by the team captains. Fellows interested in playing should see the representative of his group on the Intramural Sports Council. They are as follows:

La Salle Club: Alexander, Morrissey; Providence Club: Gelsimio, Cantore; Pawtucket Club: Toole, H. Sherlock; Blackstone Valley: Joyce, Bachand; Cranston Club: Beatrice, McKanna; Newport Club: Razza, Ramola; Massachusetts: Maloney, Triggs; Connecticut: Ealahan, D'Ambrosia; Guzman Hall: Vanderhaar, Cantaudro; Freshman Arts: Palizza; Sophomore Arts: Murphy, Science; Ottaviano; Senior Arts: Boyle, Science; Loneragan.

There will be a cross country run for freshmen this Friday at 3:30. Those who competed in the previous race are eligible. The winner will be judged on the basis of improvement in time over his previous race, i.e., the one showing the most improvement will be declared the winner.

FOOTBALL

Tomorrow afternoon, Senior Science will play La Salle I in an intramural football game at 1:00 o'clock on Hendricken Field. The winner of this game will probably clinch the Intramural title, and be P. C.'s representative against the Brown champs later in the season.

P.C. TO CONDUCT INVITATION MEET

An interscholastic invitation 4 mile relay meet will be held under the auspices of Providence College at Hendricken Field on Tuesday afternoon, November 29, at 3:30 P. M. The race will be run on a quarter mile grass track inside Hendricken Field. Under the rules of the meet, each school will have a 4 man team with each man running one mile.

Entries have already been sent to many of the leading high schools throughout New England. The meet is another step forward by Coach Harry Coates and the athletic department to further track interest in the college. Four gold medals will be awarded to the winning team, four silver medals to the second team, and four bronze medals to the third team.

Entries will close November 23, with Coach Harry A. Coates.

Brown Harriers Win Varsity, Frosh Races

By Jack Shea

The Providence College Varsity Cross Country team brought to a close a disastrous initial season as they dropped their third and final meet to Brown last Thursday at Hendricken Field. The Bruin harriers easily swept to an 18-44 decision over the hapless Friars. De Maris, of Brown, was the individual winner over the 3 mile course in 16:57. John McMullen was the first P. C. runner to finish, placing 3rd. The Tobey twins did not compete.

The real thrill of the afternoon came in the Freshman race. Brown scored a routine 22-35 triumph, but Malinaux of Brown and Johnson of P. C. waged a dog fight for first place the like of which is seldom seen. The two speedsters entered Hendricken Field together for the last lap to complete their 3 mile run.

At about half way around the field, Malinaux put on a terrific burst of speed in an attempt to pull away from Johnson, but the latter met Malinaux's burst with one of his own and the two boys sped at a quarter mile clip for the remainder of the race.

Coming down the final stretch Malinaux pulled ahead slightly and won by about 4 yards. The time was 16:49, considerably faster than that of the varsity contest.

Coach Harry Coates may not have very many fond memories as he looks back upon this cross country season, but he cannot help but be pleased with the performances turned in by John McMullen. Along with most of Providence's varsity, this was McMullen's first year at running cross country. Pitted against men who had previous experience in college and high school, McMullen never failed to give a creditable performance. What he lacked in experience and natural ability he more than made up for with pure out and out courage. It is not too much to say that he is the one bright light of the Varsity Cross Country season.

The results of the varsity and freshman races with Brown follows:

Varsity: (1) De Maris, Brown; (2) Standish, B; McMullen, P. C.; (4) Welch, B; (5) Bailey, B; (6) Lotz; (7) Winsor, B; (8) Sherry, P. C.; (9) Edwards, B; (10) Couture, P. C.; (11) Morris, P. C.; (12) Keenan, P. C.;

SEVEN MAN TEAM REPRESENTS P. C. 22 TEAMS, 180 STARTERS ENTERED

By Jack Shea

The Providence College Freshman Cross Country squad will journey to New York next week, to participate in the IC4A Freshman Cross Country run to be held at Van Cortland Park on Monday, November 21.

The race will be run over a distance of 3 miles and will pit the Friar yearlings against the class of freshmen harriers in the East. Twenty-two colleges have entered squads in the meet.

Coach Harry Coates has announced that he will carry a seven-man team to the meet. This team will consist of Johnson, Gannon, Waters, Gagne, Goode, Westein, and Bob Tiernan.

Pop Johnson will be given heartbreaking race to Molineaux in Brown in this meet. Johnson lost a

Cuddy Decides To Have Jayvee Team

Francis S. Kane

An announcement was made this Monday by the Reverend A. B. Begley, O.P., college Athletic Director, that Providence College will be represented during the 1949-1950 season by a Junior Varsity basketball team.

This squad, which is to be drawn from the last eight players retained by Coach Vin Cuddy on his varsity practice squad of twenty men, will have its own schedule of at least ten games.

The Junior Varsity will open the season against the General Line School in Newport on December 2nd. Father Begley stated that the remainder of the schedule will be announced in the immediate future or as soon as definite commitments can be negotiated with all of the team's tentative opponents.

Coach Vin Cuddy is very pleased with this new opportunity that has been made available to his squadmen. He is entertaining high hopes that these games will eventually prove a valuable source for procuring some much needed reserve strength for the varsity.

The daily practice session, held by the varsity squad in the auditorium of Harkins Hall and at Mount Pleasant High gym, are being continued at an accelerated pace now that the squad has been trimmed to its minimum size of twenty.

This is the final cutting of the squad and now the battle commences for positions on the first varsity unit of twelve members. Those successful in gaining berths in the varsity practice squad are: Co-Captains Walter Lososki and Arthur Wienstock along with Alex Becker, Tom Bauer, Joe Blain, Norman Dube, Ronnie Gagnon, Ray Garcia, Owen Haggerty, Bill Higgins, Ray Korlusieski, Jerry Lembo, Francis McGurkin, Ed Mooney, Sam Nissel, Tom Orr, Jim Power, Charlie Shea, Jim Schlamm and Frank Pelligrino.

However, two men from this group, Bill Higgins and Ray Garcia, are temporarily out of consideration due to illness and injury. Higgins recently underwent an operation for appendicitis and is lost indefinitely to the squad. Ray Garcia has successfully responded to treatment of a neck injury and should rejoin the team early next week.

To further aid Coach Cuddy in making a choice of his starting team, a game has been scheduled for the latter part of the week with the Quonset Naval Air Station Flyers. Undoubtedly all squadmen will be giving their utmost at this game in the hope of securing a starting berth on this year's Friar Aggregation.

Coach Coates believes that there might be a different story when the two aces meet again. Gannon and Waters have exhibited lots of promise lately, and if they are in form next Monday P. C. will make a good showing. There is expected to be a total of 180 starters in the event.

Freshman Basketball Squad Cut to 16 Men

By John Saleses

The freshman basketball team after another week of practice has been cut to sixteen men. Ted Hines, Beaver Powers, Bob Prendergast, and Bob Paul have been shaping up pretty well.

As further help in seeing how the squad works under fire, Coach Hal Martin sent his team against the varsity team of Coach Vin Cuddy last week up in the Mount Pleasant High School gym. Coach Martin was not able to find out how combinations of the men on his squad would work as there were several members absent because of the Armistice Day holiday. For those who were present, it meant the acquisition of much needed experience.

The Martin-men are still in need of court experience. They are constantly being drilled in fundamentals. Individual work is being stressed in the realization that it will bring out the maximum in team play.

A schedule of about twenty-three games is being made up. Boston College, Holy Cross, Rhode Island State, Newman Prep, Marianopolis, Brown, among others are included on the schedule. All these teams have improved over their last year squads. Newman Prep of Boston was the prep school champ of Massachusetts last year. Holy Cross has imported some western school-boy stars. Rhode Island State has acquired virtually intact Pawtucket East's championship high school team of R. I.

New York Hotel Has College Department

With the advent of fall and the re-appearance of large groups of college students, that old familiar parting salute: "Meet me under the clock at the Biltmore," again echoes throughout the country. Indeed, this famed New York East Side hotel has become an accredited stand-in Alma Mater for the undergraduates of nearly one thousand universities, colleges and schools. Besides the several hundred students who weekend at the Biltmore with the permission of their deans, youngsters visiting friends elsewhere in the city always manage to get to the Palm Court Lounge at some time during their Manhattan stay because they are sure to see familiar faces there.

The development of the idea for the Biltmore's College Department is interesting. About 1924 a group of American college girls was invited to spend the summer in a garden-surrounded 14th Century Manse in England. Properly chaperoned and having for its purpose a mental and spiritual expansion, this venture was called "The House-party" and proved so successful that some of the girls made repeated requests for a place in New York where they could come and to some extent be on their own.

The idea of a hotel where students might be under the supervision of a watchful staff without really cramping the style of these young people was broached to Biltmore executives who immediately appreciated the possibilities of such an undertaking. This innovation likewise appealed to college authorities, students themselves, and particularly to uneasy parents who had previously feared unsupervised metropolitan safaris.

Therefore the Department of College Relations of the Biltmore was carefully organized. That was seventeen years ago. The first year 150 students registered. The next year the number was augmented to 1500. In 1941 the records showed 18,000—a figure that was increased to 35,000 in 1942. The department, now "co-educational," is by no means a cloistered setup which prescribed a guard or chaperone for every student who sallies forth, but is rather a friendly series of guides who makes reservations for incoming students and faculty members, acts as a contact with the school itself, and functions in many other capacities as well.

Mrs. John Hammond is the director of this unique department which, over the years, has developed in a highly efficient manner not only to the benefit of student and faculty members who avail themselves of a considerable saving in the college rate, but also to the hotel for its methodical indexing and cross-indexing of information about schools and their personnel.

In line with the services rendered to universities, colleges and private schools, there is a department living room constantly available for interviews between students and college authorities, and frequent consultation with the college deans enable Biltmore officials to keep in close touch with student requirements. In short, the entire Biltmore staff is mindful of the safety and happiness of student guests and has earned for itself the envied reputation of being the "College Crossroads of the World."

Alembic Editor In Plea To Undergrads

The deadline for the next issue of the ALEMBIC is the 28th of November, according to Wales B. Henry, Editor of the College Literary Quarterly.

There is always a need for new talent to be presented on the pages of the oldest publication in the College. It seems that the Freshmen are somewhat reluctant to place themselves in the public eye by having a manuscript of their composition printed in the Quarterly. However, as was pointed out by the Editor, it is only through the medium of such publications as the ALEMBIC that the student can consolidate and use the material knowledge he has acquired in the classroom. The development of literary talent is one of the aims of the College—the ALEMBIC is the proper vehicle in which to display this development.

This staff of the ALEMBIC, through severe self-criticism and study of the various literary efforts of other colleges, feel that the Literary Quarterly of Providence College rates favorably if not higher than any other Catholic Quarterly which has come to their attention. The task of maintaining this literary superiority rests with the undergraduate body of Providence College rather than with the outgoing Senior Class. In other words, the Staff of the ALEMBIC throws down the challenge to the lower classes. "This is your magazine—can you maintain the high standards we have aspired to?"

There has already been a gratifying response from some of the Freshmen. Paul Flanigan, '53, will be read in the forthcoming issue of the ALEMBIC. He has presented two poems which reflect astuteness and skill and are indicative of even better things to come in the future. Other Freshman and Sophomore manuscripts are now under consideration for the forthcoming issue.

The ALEMBIC office is located in Donnelly Hall and we invite the underclassmen to come in and read the past issues of the ALEMBIC which are in bound volumes dating back to the first issue published in 1920. There are also the magazines of all the colleges in our Exchange available for those who are interested in reading them.

Short-stories, poems, essays, plays, comedies—any type of literature, so long as it is in conformance with the accepted norms for good literature and is morally acceptable may be submitted for publication. If you have

Phi Chi Club Hears Talk on Cosmology

On Tuesday evening, November 8, the new officers of the Phi Chi Club of Providence College officiated at the club's first formal meeting of the school year. Al Leoffler '50, is president, Frank King '51, vice president and Tom Sullivan '52, secretary treasurer.

The president introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Dr. Gora of the Providence College Physics Department. Doctor Gora, lecturing on "Modern Cosmology Hypotheses", told his audience that the concepts of the classical cosmologists concerning the relation of space, time and matter have come to be held in a different light by two modern cosmologists. He then proceeded to compare the hypotheses put forth by the leading schools of cosmologists and showed the difficulty encountered in trying to prove any of these hypotheses conclusively.

Major Norm Hays, Oklahoma A&M, '40 -Aviation Executive, U.S. Air Force!

A native of Grove, Oklahoma, Norman Hays graduated from Grove High School in 1935. The following year he entered Oklahoma A&M, where he majored in engineering; also took public speaking.

Active in national 4H Club work while in college, he helped organize its statewide activities, won a national 4H championship in Public Speaking. In 1940 he received his BS degree in engineering.

A month later he began navigator training as an Aviation Cadet. In 1941, he received his navigator's wings and a commission as Second Lieutenant . . . married his college sweetheart.

Sent to an RAF Navigation School in Canada, he graduated with the highest possible rating of Specialist. Norman served overseas for 18 months in the Aleutians, Italy and Saipan.

Accepting a regular commission after the war, he was assigned to development of navigation instruments; navigated the B-29 "Pacusan Dreamboat" on its famed Hawaii-Cairo non-stop flight in 1946.

Typical of college graduates who have found their place in the U. S. Air Force, Major Hays is Chief, Navigation Section, at Headquarters in Washington . . . with a secure career . . . a promising future.

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider a flying career as an officer in the U. S. Air Force. You may be able to meet the high physical and moral requirements and be selected for training. If you do not complete Aviation Cadet training, you may return to civilian life or have opportunity to train for an important officer assignment in non-flying fields.

Air Force officer procurement teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain about these career opportunities. Watch for their arrival or get full details at your nearest Air Force Base, local recruiting station, or by writing to the Chief of Staff, U. S. conceived the COWL, with Joseph P. Dyer, '36, as editor-in-chief. The beloved and respected Father L. C. McCarthy, then president of the College, was given to say, "The COWL will serve several useful purposes at the college. Being less formal than the ALEMBIC and more dignified than the TIE-UP and SNAPPER (now long defunct), it will be a practice field not only for the young men who have journalistic aspirations but for all those who expect to use the press as a means for exercising greater personal or professional influence."

The COWL flourished and grew year by year until the Spring of 1942 when Editor James F. Shiel, '44, wrote in the April 30 edition, "The COWL will probably suspend publication for the Summer trimester with this issue." The COWL was 'put to bed' in 1942, the student body dwindled to practically nothing, the boys marched off to the far-flung battlefields, and the college embraced the military.

After the suspension brought about by the war years, the COWL came to life again on October 26, 1946, being welcomed by the president, now Father Frederick Foley. Yes, the paper came back to life again with a roar: 47 men were on the staff, Ed Sullivan, '48, and Tom Carroll, '48, were co-editors-in-chief.

This year marks the twelfth volume that is being presented for the edification of the student body. Diligent labor was put into the previous eleven volumes for love of Alma Mater and the want 'to do something for the school.' And that is why this morning members of the present COWL staff joined, at least in thought, with their predecessors in expressing sentiments for a portion of school life, however small, that will continue to grow and prosper for many a year to come.

to do—in their own humble, feeble way.

"We are just beginning what they have brought to a glorious end."

He told the Tertiaries that they must be filled with the spirit of love. "If there is any place, any person, anything that you love more than God, you cannot be saved . . . No matter where we go, no matter whom we may be with, God is there if we seek."

"As Tertiaries, we must bring God into the world." Turning again to the Dominican Saints, Father Jurasko concluded, "These Saints are watching our every step."

In the simple ceremony of profession each novice knelt and said aloud: "To the honour of Almighty God, Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, and of the Blessed Virgin Mary, and Blessed Dominic, I Brother —, before you, Father Rubba, who holds the place of the Master General of the Order of Friars Preachers, do make profession that it is my will to live henceforth according to the Rule and form of the Brothers and Sisters of the same Order of Penance of Blessed Dominic until death."

Following reception of the postulants into the novitiate, Father Rubba gave the Papal Blessing. Father Hinnebusch officiated at Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament, which the entire group opened with the Louvain Hymn and closed with the Lourdes Hymn.

It was unanimously agreed upon at the meeting in the lounge, that a drive for greater membership from among the student body should be started immediately. The number in the students section of the chapter, it is hoped, will eventually at least equal the large number, lost in part through graduation, who belonged last year.

Club Announces Season Schedule

By Bob Reardon

The Glee Club concert schedule for the current season was announced last night by Vin Messler, '50, President of the organization. It includes joint concerts with four of the leading Catholic women's colleges of New England. There will also be two other appearances of the Glee Club under the auspices of local groups in the cities in which they are to be held.

The 1949-50 Concert Schedule is as follows:

Dec. 4—Newton College of the Sacred Heart.
Jan. 15—Woonsocket.
Feb. 19—Regis College.
March 17—Waterbury, Conn.
April 23—Emmanuel College.
May (Date Undecided)—College of Our Lady of Mercy, Portland, Me. (Formerly St. Joseph's College).
Additional concerts may be added later.

The only formal appearance of the Glee Club in Providence this year will be the concert with Regis in the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel, February 19, 1950, under the sponsorship of the Veridames of Providence College.

Seniors may obtain tickets from the above men and also from members of the ticket committee. Albert Calahan, Joseph Mitchell, Gerald Rogers, William Silva, Leonard Mooy, Arthur Hoey, John Lonergan, and Edward Lynch are members of the ticket committee.

Student expense in the club is also threefold: (1) a twenty-five dollar entrance fee; (2) monthly dues to cover cost of hangar space; (3) a small fee for use of plane (member pays for gas and oil he uses).

It is also the plan of the club to have a graduate division for those who wish to continue relations with the club after graduation.

The club, Fr. Murtaugh said, presents an excellent opportunity for men interested in aviation and it gives a good opportunity to learn the rudiments of the theory of flight.
